

The image displays a collection of 600x600 mm digital vitrified tiles arranged in a grid. Each tile features a different wood-grain pattern, ranging from light, pale woods to darker, more textured woods. The patterns are highly detailed, showing natural wood grain, knots, and variations in color. The tiles are set against a dark background, which makes the lighter and more textured patterns stand out. The overall effect is a diverse and realistic representation of various wood species.
